Shopping Center Under Study in UCLA Seminar

"The shopping Center Game—Into the Eighties," will be the subject of a one-day seminar scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 6, by UCLA Extension at the Century Plaza Hotel.

An annual affair, the shopping center seminar will feature as a major speaker Ernest W. Hahn, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the shopping center development firm bearing his name.

Other speakers, who will cover such topics as renovation and layout of centers; finding tenants, starting a center and developing minicenters, include: Sam Haynes of McDonalds; Ralph Miller of Miller Outpost; Bruce Odell of Thrifty Drugs; architects Donald Lynch, Al Cruz and Mal Riley; Alan Riseman of La Mancha Development Corp. and attorneys Bud Dreisen, Fred Nicholas and Steven Soboroff. Further information and reservations for the $75 seminar may be obtained from UCLA Extension.
